

Babies feel the beat

MUSIC lover Vicky Abad has turned a life-long passion into a business.

Bobbin' Babies is a 45-minute music program in Nundah offering parents a hands-on approach to interacting and teaching their children music.

The classes are designed specifically for babies and small children.

A registered music therapist, Mrs Abad started the program when her daughter was four months old.

"I invited my friends to bring their babies along too," Mrs Abad said.

"They were so happy with the program they told all their friends and I started getting requests for groups for older infants and toddlers."

Boppin' Babies has now grown and Tuesday morning classes will start from next week.

"Parents participate in the music sessions with their children in singing, moving to music and playing instruments," she said.

No musical ability is required. Parents only need to turn up and be part of the fun.

Sessions are offered in age brackets on Tuesday and Thursday to allow children to participate in a developmentally appropriate environment.

Get a new leash on life in 2009

To celebrate Brisbane 150, Brisbane City Council and Quest Community Newspapers are presenting monthly 10,000 Steps Brisbane walks in various locations across the city.

Physical activity is good for you and for your four-legged friend, so come along and join in the New Leash on Life Brighton Walk on Sunday 1 February.

Meet at Peace Park, corner Baskerville Street and Bracken Ridge Road at 7.30am and finish at 8.30am with some morning tea.

You can even sign up with your local Gonewalking dogwalking group and maybe make new friends.

Walking is one of the easiest ways to build activity into your day. Remember every step counts.
